PREFACE.

The principal object of this selection is to supply the churches with a competent number of tunes, suitable for Divine Worship.—That such a selection was needed, is evident to every one of taste, who is acquainted with the compilation in common use.

It is a matter of just and general complaint, among persons capable of judging of the matter, that Psalmody, instead of producing, according to its original design, the effect of sublime and solemn praise to God, has in too many churches so degenerated, or is so little attended to, as to become contemptible and even ridiculous.

The truth is, that which we too frequently hear is unworthy of the name of music: many of the tunes in use, and favorite ones too, are in themselves entirely devoid of energy or expression: and from the manner in which they are performed, completely fail in touching the heart, or of exciting any sensations but those of disgust and pity. True, there are many exceptions, and a laudable ambition to improve and excel, is, in many places manifest: but still, where better things might be expected, a barbarous style pervades the sanctuary of the Most High.

Tunes of comparatively modern date, put together by authors who were unacquainted with the science of music, have taken place of the fine tunes of Ravenscroft and his contemporaries.

Others still more modern and more exceptionable, are preferred by many to the finest compositions of the present day. Tunes in the minor key are preferred by some on all occasions: hence we frequently hear Psalms, or Hymns of praise and triumph expressed in strains that would have better suited the desponding accents of the disciples, when their hopes expired with the crucifixion of their Lord.

Young people, whose taste is yet crude, and uninformed, almost universally prefer the rapid and fugging music of American composuists, to such airs as compose this selection; but as their taste becomes more delicate, their relish more just, and their judgment better informed, music of the former class becomes cloying and insipid, and, having passed through the different grades of improvement, the feelings and the ear rest with the greatest delight on tunes like Egypt, Old Ham, Old Hundred, and St. Michael's.

The tunes in this selection are, for the most part, taken from the best European authors and composers; but the author has not, as some authors have done, confined himself to these alone, but has selected several tunes from our American authors. And as it relates to the few pieces of his own composition, he is willing to acknowledge that he does not think them equal to some he has selected: yet he hopes they will be received with some degree of satisfaction.

The order of the parts is as follows: the upper staff contains the principal air, or Treble, and should be sung by treble voices. The middle staff is the Tenor, or what is commonly called the Treble, and should be sung by men. The lowest staff is the Bass.

The propriety of giving the principal air to the treble voices, is still disputed by some; but those who know any thing of the general scale, or the analogy of sounds, know that it is right. The air is the leading and principal part of harmony, and requires the most graceful performance, and to be more distinctly heard than the other parts, and therefore ought to be assigned to those voices which are naturally the most expressive of melody. The voices of women being an octave higher than those of men, and a great deal more flexible and musical, are consequently much more capable of the graces of music. Good treble voices exceed, on a moderate calculation, the number of good tenor voices, in the proportion of ten to one. On account, therefore, of the superior delicacy of the female voice, and of the greater number of good treble performers, to them ought to be assigned the air, or leading part of the piece.

It is not intended, however, that the air should be sung exclusively by women. They should be accompanied by some of the best and most flexible voices of men, in order to give body and strength to the performance, and to afford the better opportunity of attending to the piano and forte parts of the movement. The forte strains should be sung sometimes by the whole choir, and sometimes by men only; while the piano strains should be sung, for the most part, by women only. These parts are distinctly marked in this volume, by the terms men, women and tutti, placed over the staff; which, when rightly attended to, produces a very pleasing variety in the performance. This method of performing vocal music, needs only to be tried, in order to be approved.

With these remarks, this work is submitted to the inspection of the public, hoping it may be acceptable to the lovers of music generally, and a means of improving the practice of sacred psalmody.

SAMUEL WAKEFIELD.

PREFACE TO THE SECOND STEREOTYPED EDITION OF THE CHRISTIAN'S HARP.

In as much as the first stereotyped edition of this work, (published in 1836, said to be "corrected, enlarged and much improved by Lazarus B. M'Lain,") contains more errors than the first edition, an apology or explanation is due to the public. The only one I have to offer, is that I had no opportunity of examining the proof sheets until the work was done, and the plates sent up from Cincinnati to Pittsburgh; I have since carefully examined and corrected it. Having spared no pains to render this edition worthy of patronage, I now submit it to the singing community, believing that it is calculated to become one of the most popular musical productions in the Western Country.

THE RUDIMENTS OF MUSIC.

CHAPTER I. NOTATION.

ARTICLE 1. A staff is five parallel lines, with their intermediate spaces, on which music is written. Thus,

Each of these lines and spaces is called a degree. The staff, therefore, includes nine degrees, viz: five lines and four spaces. The degrees of the staff are always counted upwards, from the lowest to the highest.

It frequently happens that music ascends above, or descends below the compass of these five lines, and then another line is added to the staff, and is called a ledger line. Any number of lines may in like manner be added, either above or below the staff, and by this means the degrees may be increased at pleasure.

2. A brace is used to shew how many parts of music move together, by being drawn across the beginning of the tune. Thus,

3. The degrees of each staff are represented by the first seven letters of the alphabet—A, B, C, D, E, F, G. These letters are variously placed on the staff, according to the part of the music for which it is designed. The situation of the letters on the staff, is governed by a certain character called a clef, which is placed at the beginning of the tune, immediately after the brace. There are only two clefs used in this work, viz : the F, or bass clef, and the G, or tenor and treble clef. The most simple definition of a clef, is, that it represents a certain letter of the staff.

The F, or bass clef, is placed upon the fourth line of the staff—that line which passes between its two dots. All the notes on that line are called F; and the other degrees take their names from this, as the clef line. Thus,

The G, or treble and tenor clef, is placed upon the second line of the staff—the line that cuts it through in three places. All the notes on that line are called G; and the other degrees take their names from that, as the clef line. Thus,

As there are only seven original or primitive sounds in music, there are therefore only seven letters used to represent these sounds; and as the eighth sound is the same in nature with the first, so the first letter is used to represent the eighth sound. The second letter represents the ninth sound—and so on, as far as the case may require.

4. The characters used in music, to represent musical sounds, are called notes, and are of two kinds, viz: notes of distinction, and notes of duration. Notes of distinction are four in number, viz : Me, Faw, Sol, Law. In this work, the Me is a diamond shape—the Faw, triangular—the Sol, round—and the Law, square. Thus,

Musical notes consist in general of a head and stem; the head is either white or black. The stem may be turned either up or down, without varying the music. Notes of duration are six in number, and are distinguished as follows:

NOTES OF DURATION.

One Semibreve is equal in time to two Minims, four Crotchets, eight Quavers, sixteen Semiquavers, or thirty-two Demisemiquavers.

5. Rests are characters used in music, to denote a cessation of sound in the course of the movement, during the time of the notes for which they stand. There are six rests corresponding to the six notes of duration, and after which they take their names. First—a semibreve rest is an oblong square, below the middle line of the staff. Second—a minim rest is the same character placed above the middle line of the staff. Third—a crotchet rest is the figure seven inverted. Fourth—a quaver rest is a seven. Fifth—a semiquaver rest is a seven, with a dash. Sixth—a demisemiquaver rest is a seven, with two dashes.

The semibreve rest is sometimes called the measure rest, because it is used to represent the silence of a whole measure in all movements, whether the measure contains a semibreve, or otherwise.

6. A dot, • or, as it is sometimes called a point of addition, set at the right side of a note or rest, makes it one-half longer than its usual time. A pointed minim, therefore, is equal in time to a minim and a half, or to three crotchets; and a pointed crotchet is equal in time to a crotchet and a half, or three quavers. The same will apply to their corresponding rests. Thus,

7. A pause or hold  has an effect somewhat similar to a point of addition, but with this difference: the point of addition always takes the time which is added to the note to which it is set, from the following note or notes. But the hold adds to the note over which it is set, without affecting any other note in the measure. Notes over which holds are set, should be performed about one-fourth slower than their usual time.

8.  Single bars are drawn across the staff, to divide it into equal portions of time. That space which is included between any two single bars; is called a measure.

9.  A double bar is used to show the termination of a strain, such as the first part of Amsterdam.

When the termination of a strain does not coincide with the termination of a measure—that is, when the double bar does not fall on the natural place of the single bar, it is then totally distinct from the single bar, and the measures are reckoned between the single bars, although the double bar may intervene. The double bar, therefore, does not affect the measure in which it is placed; but the time is kept as if it were not inserted at all.

10.  A close shews the end of a tune, or the concluding strain of a piece of music, and is set immediately after the last note of the piece. The only exception to this, is in Da Capo tunes, where they end with the first strain, and at a double bar.

11.  $\overline{\cdot}$  A repeat shews that the tune must be repeated from the note before which it is set, to the next double bar or close. But when this sign is placed at the left side of a double bar, it directs the performer to return to the beginning of the piece, or to the preceding double bar or repeat, and perform it over again. See Amsterdam.

12. A slur  $\frown$  is drawn over or under any number of notes, that are to be applied to one syllable; but if such notes are all quavers, semiquavers, &c., they may be united by their stems, and to such the slur is altogether superfluous. Thus,

Broad is the road that leads to death.

13. The figure three placed over or under any three notes, reduces them to the time of two of the same kind.

14. The figures one and two at a double bar or close, shew that the note or notes under one, must be performed the first time; and the note or notes under two, the second time when repeated. But when they are tied by a slur, they are both to be sounded the second time.

15. A staccato † is a small stroke placed over or under those notes that are to be performed in a short and distinct manner.

16. Da Capo, or D. C. set over a piece of music, shews that it ends with the first strain.

17. Choosing notes are those set over each other on the same staff, that the performer may sing which he pleases.

18. A prisa :: denotes a repetition of words or syllables, and is set under the note or notes to which such syllables or words must be applied.

19. A sharp # set before a note, raises it a semitone. When a sharp is set at the clef, it raises all the notes that may fall on that line or space, a semitone higher, unless contradicted by naturals.

20. A flat b set before a note, sinks it a semitone. When a flat is set at the clef, it has an effect exactly contrary to that of a sharp.

When any number of sharps or flats are placed at the clef, they affect all the notes of the same letter in every octave throughout the movement, and are termed the signature, because they point out the degree on which the tonic or key note stands, by directing the performer to the place of me. Those sharps and flats that occur in the course of the movement, are called accidental, to distinguish them from those of the signature, which are essential to the scale of the original key note.

3. Movement, in relation to time, is that particular degree of velocity with which a piece of music should be performed. The principal modifications of movement, from slow to quick, are five, which are expressed by the following words: 1. Largo—very slow. 2. Adagio—slow. 3. Andante—moderate. 4. Allegro—brisk. 5. Presto—quick.

4. When a piece of music, in the first mood of common time, is principally crotchets or quavers, and is marked with the term largo, or adagio, it is best to give it four beats to every measure; but when the time is performed, in any of the other movements, faster than adagio, it requires only two beats to a measure, one down and one up.

The second mood of common time is also beat with two beats to a measure, one down and one up. Triple time is beat with three beats to a measure, two down and one up.

Compound time is beat with two beats to each measure, one down and one up.

5. The first mood of common time has two accents to a measure, which fall on the first and third parts. The second mood has only one accent to a measure, which falls on the first part. Triple time measures have only one accent, which falls on the first part; but in slow movements of this mood, the third part of the measure should be slightly accented.—Compound time has two accents to a measure, which fall on the first and fourth parts.

In all cases, where there are two accents in a measure, the first should be stronger than the second; and if in those moods that require two accents to a measure, the measure should sometimes be filled by one note—in such case there must be only one accent. Accents in vocal music, are designed to correspond with the accented syllables of the words to which the music is applied. Now, no one note can have more than one syllable applied to it; and as no syllable has more than one accent, it is therefore improper to place several accents upon one note. This disgusting practice, however, is very common, even among those who profess to be teachers of music.

Any number of notes, over or under which a slur is drawn, should have but one accent, whether they fill a part of a measure, or a whole measure; for such notes must all be applied to one syllable, and should be swelled, instead of jolting along at the usual places of accent, as is too frequently the case.

CHAPTER III. TUNE.

Tune consists in a continual succession of single sounds, so arranged as to produce melody.

ARTICLE 1. The degrees of the natural scale of music, commonly called the diatonic scale, are only seven, and are represented by the first seven letters of the alphabet, as is shown in article third, chapter first. When to these seven letters the first is added, the whole comprehends a system of degrees, which is usually called an octave.

2. The ordinary compass of the human voice, is supposed to be about twenty-two degrees, or three octaves. But as a woman's voice is naturally an octave higher than a man's voice, when sounding the same note or letter; and as no one voice extends to more than about two octaves, from the lowest to the highest, it seems more natural, therefore, to conclude that two octaves is the real compass of the human voice. These degrees, when placed in a regular order above each other, constitute what is called the diatonic scale or gamut.

Diatonic Scale or Gamut.

This scale extends to fifteen degrees, or two octaves, and consists of tones and semitones, in the following order, viz : From G to A, a tone ; A to B, a tone ; B to C, a semitone ; C to D, a tone ; D to E, a tone ; E to F, a semitone ; F to G, a tone ; which completes the first octave. The intervals of the remaining octave, are exactly similar to the first. The semitones are found between B and C, and E and F, as also between me and farw, and law and farw.

3. In every correct air or tune, there is one principal note or tone, which is called the key note or tonic. On this, all regular melodies depend, and for the most part terminate. There are only two keys, or tonics, in music—the major and minor, or sharp and flat keys. These keys are sometimes called moods. The sharp key is called the major mood, and the flat key the minor mood. Tunes in the major mood, are applied to subjects of praise, thanksgiving, &c., and tunes in the minor mood, are suited to plaintive subjects. There are only two original key letters, viz : C, for the major, and A, for the minor mood.

Every 3d, 6th and 7th above the tonic, or key note, of the major scale, contains a semitone more than the same intervals above the tonic of the minor scale ; and this is the reason why one scale is called major, and the other minor, or sharp and flat.

The last note of the bass is always on the key of the piece. If it be above me, the tune is in the major mood ; but if below me, it is in the minor mood. Or if the last note of the bass be farw, the tune is in the major mood ; and if law, it is in the minor mood.

That series of notes, beginning at C, and rising to C above, comprehends what is called the original octave of C. Thus,

That series of notes, beginning at A, and descending to A below, comprehends the original octave of A. Thus,

That series of notes, beginning at A, and rising to A above, is called the ascending scale of A; and differs from the descending scale, in that it requires the 6th and 7th of the scale to be sharped. Thus,

4. Every whole tone may be divided into two semitones, so that the octave is made to consist of twelve degrees, or semitones. This is called the chromatic scale. Thus,

C * D * E F * G * A * B C
1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12

In this scale, the stars between the notes, and also between the letters point out the division of whole tones into artificial semitones. The slurs are drawn over those notes that are only a semitone apart. The figures shew the number of semitones in the octave. Thus, from C to D, are 2 semitones—to E, 4—to F, 5—to G, 7—to A, 9—to B, 11—and to C, 12.

5. It often becomes necessary to move the key from its natural place, to some other letter in the octave, in order to bring the tune within the compass of the staff. This changing of the keys is called transposition, and is effected by sharps and flats used at the clef. The natural place for me is on B;

But if B be flat, me is on E.
B and E flat, on A.
B, E and A flat, on D.
B, E, A and D flat, on G.
B, E, A, D and G flat, on C.
B, E, A, D, G and C flat, on F.

If F be sharp, me is on F.
F and C sharp, on C.
F, C and G sharp, on G.
F, C, G and D sharp, on D.
F, C, G, D and A sharp, on A.
F, C, G, D, A and E sharp, on E.

Thus you perceive six sharps or flats may be used, but we seldom have more than five, the number of tones in an octave. When ascending in gradation from Me, the order of the syllables is always Faw, Sol, Law, Faw, Sol, Law, Me. In descending from Me, the order is reversed—Law, Sol, Faw, Law, Sol, Faw, Me. The syllable Faw is invariably a semitone above Law or Me.

6. When sharps and flats are occasionally used in the course of a movement, they are called accidentals; and the effect they produce, is called modulation. These accidentals do not affect the sound of the letter any further than the measure in which they are enclosed; but in every place where they occur, they as really change the key, for that measure, as if they had been placed at the clef. The only exception to this rule, is, when sharps are placed upon the 6th and 7th of the minor scale; and are, therefore, not considered accidental, but as belonging to the scale.

The names of intervals are derived from the number of degrees contained between the two sounds, both extremes being reckoned inclusively. Thus the interval of a second includes two degrees; a third, three degrees, &c.

The first system of the musical score consists of three staves. The top staff is a vocal line in treble clef with a common time signature (C). The lyrics are written below the notes. The middle and bottom staves are piano accompaniment in treble and bass clefs, respectively. The music features various note values including quarter, eighth, and sixteenth notes, as well as rests and accidentals.

The second system of the musical score continues the piece. It features three staves. The vocal line (top staff) includes the lyrics and is marked with 'Women.' above it. The piano accompaniment (middle and bottom staves) continues with similar notation. A double bar line is present in the middle of the system, followed by a section marked 'Tutti.' and 'Women.' above the vocal line. The music concludes with a final cadence.

4 When we asunder part,
It gives us inward pain,
But we shall still be join'd in heart,
And hope to meet again.

5 This glorious hope revives
Our courage by the way;
While each in expectation lives,
And longs to see the day.

6 From sorrow, toil and pain, And sin we shall be free; And perfect love and friendship reign, Through all eternity.

ST. THOMAS. S. M.

Handel.

Allegro.

Thy name, Almighty Lord, Shall sound through distant lands; Great is thy grace, and sure thy word: Thy truth forever stands.

DOVER. S. M.

Williams.

Andante.

Far be thy hon - or spread, And long thy praise endure, 'Till morning light and evening shade Shall be exchange'd no more.

Andante.

A charge to keep I have, A God to glo - ri - fy; A nev - er dying soul to save, And fit it for the sky.

To serve the present age,
 My calling to fulfil:
 O may it all my powers engage,
 To do my Master's will.

2 Arm me with jealous care,
 As in thy sight to live;
 And O thy servant, Lord, prepare,
 A strict account to give!
 Help me to watch and pray,
 And on thyself rely,
 Assur'd if I my trust betray,
 I shall for ever die.

Allegro.

The Lord my Shepherd is; I shall be well supply'd, Since he is mine and I am his, Since he is mine and I am his, What can I want beside ?

- 2 He leads me to the place
Where heavenly pasture grows;
Where living waters gently pass,
And full salvation flows.
- 3 If e'er I go astray,
He doth my soul reclaim,
And guides me in his own right way,
For his most holy name.
- 4 While he affords his aid,
I cannot yield to fear;
Tho' I should walk thro' death's dark shade,
My Shepherd's with me there.
- 5 Amid surrounding foes;
Thou dost my table spread;
My cup with blessings overflows,
And joy exalts my head.

6 The beauties of thy love Shall crown my following days; Nor from thy house will I remove, Nor cease to speak thy praise.

Adagio.

Let par - ty names no more The Chris - tian world o'er - spread; Gen - tile and Jew, and bond and free, Are one in Christ their head.

- 2 Among the saints on earth
Let mutual love be found;
Heirs of the same inheritance,
With mutual blessings crown'd.
- 3 Let envy, child of hell!
Be banish'd far away;
Those should in strictest friendship dwell,
Who the same Lord obey.
- 4 Thus will the church below
Resemble that above,
Where streams of pleasure ever flow,
And every heart is love.

Adagio.

tanglements be - neath, Call off my peace - ful heart.

My feeble mind sustain,
By worldly thoughts oppress;
Appear, and bid me turn again
To my eternal rest.

- 2 Swift to my rescue come,
Thine own this moment seize,
Gather my wand'ring spirit home,
And keep in perfect peace:
Suffered no more to rove
O'er all the earth abroad,
Arrest the pris'ner of thy love
And shut me up in God.

- 5 Create my soul anew;
Else all my worship's vain;
This wretched heart will ne'er be true,
Until 'tis form'd again.

Allegro.

My God, my life, my love, To thee, to thee I call: I cannot live if thou re-move, For thou art all in all, For thou art all in all.

6 Nor earth, nor all the sky, Can one delight afford; No, not one drop of real joy,

2 Thy shining grace can cheer
This dungeon where I dwell:
'Tis paradise when thou art here,
If thou depart, 'tis hell.

3 The smilings of thy face,
How amiable they are!
'Tis heaven to rest in thine embrace,
And no where else but there.

4 To thee, and thee alone,
The angels owe their bliss;
They sit around thy gracious throne,
And dwell where Jesus is.

5 Not all the harps above,
Can make a heavenly place.
If God his residence remove,
Or but conceal his face.

Without thy prescece, Lord.

Through waves, and clouds, and storms,
He gently clears thy way;
Wait thou his time, so shall this night
Soon end in joyous day.

2 Still heavy is thy heart?
Still sink thy spirits down?
Cast off the weight, let fear depart,
And every care be gone:
What though thou rulest not,
Yet heaven, and earth, and hell,

And ruleth all things well.

How wise, how strong his hand!

Far, far above thy thought His counsel shall appear, When fully he the work hath wrought, That caused thy needless fear.

Andante.

When, gracious Lord, when shall it be, That I shall find my all in thee? The fulness of thy promise prove, The seal of thine e - ter - nal love.

2 A poor blind child I wander here,
If hap'ly I may feel thee near;
O dark! dark! dark! I still must say;
Amidst the blaze of Gospel-day.

3 Thee, only thee, I fain would find,
And cast the world and flesh behind;
Thou, only thou, to me be given;
Of all thou hast in earth or heaven.

4 When from the arm of flesh set free,
Jesus, my soul, shall fly to thee:
Jesus, when I have lost my all,
I shall upon thy bosom fall.

Andante.

Life is the time to serve the Lord, The time t'insure the great re - ward; And while the lamp holds out to burn, The vilest sinner may re - turn.

To 'scape from hell, and fly to heav'n;

But all the dead forgotten lie;
Their mem'ry and their sense are gone,

- 2 Why should my passions mix with earth,
And thus debase my heav'nly birth?
Why should I cleave to things below,
And let my God, my Saviour, go?
- 3 Call me away from flesh and sense;
One sov'reign word can draw me thence;
I would obey the voice divine,
And all inferior joys resign.
- 4 Be earth with all her scenes withdrawn,
Let noise and vanity begone;
In secret silence of the mind,
My heav'n, and there my God, I find.

Largo.

How lovely, how di - vine - ly sweet, O Lord, thy sa - cred courts appear; Fain would my longing

- 2 O! blest the men, blest their employ,
Whom thy indulgent favors raise,
To dwell in those abodes of joy,
And sing thy never ceasing praise.
- 3 Happy the men whom strength divine,
With ardent love and zeal inspires;
Whose steps to thy blest way incline,
With willing hearts and warm desires.
- 4 One day within thy sacred gate,
Affords more real joy to me,
Than thousands in the tents of state;
The meanest place is bliss with thee.

 And I am thine by sacred ties,
 Thy Son, thy servant bought with blood.

3 With heart, and eyes, and lifted hands,
 For thee I long, to thee I look,
 As travelers in thirsty lands,
 Pant for the cooling water-brook.

4 E'en life itself, without thy love,
 No lasting pleasure can afford;
 Yea, 'twould a tiresome burden prove,

By his pain he gives you ease,
Life by his expiring groan ;
Rise exalted by his fall,
Find in Christ your all in all.

3 O believe the record true,

Ye may now be happy too ;
Find on earth the life of heav'n ;
Live the life of heaven above,
All the life of glorious love.

The music is in a common time signature and features a variety of note values including eighth, sixteenth, and quarter notes, as well as rests and accidentals.

2 Our brother the haven hath gain'd,
 Outflying the tempest and wind;
 His rest he hath sooner obtain'd,
 And left his companions behind,
 Still toss'd on a sea of distress,
 Hard toiling to make the blest shore,
 Where all is assurance and peace,
 And sorrow and sin are no more.

3 There all the ship's company meet,
 Who sail'd with the Saviour beneath:
 With shouting each other they greet,
 And triumph o'er sorrow and death.
 The voyage of life's at an end,
 The mortal affliction is past:
 The age that in heav'n they spend,
 For ever and ever shall last.

- 2 I languish and pine for the comfort divine !
 O when shall I say my beloved is mine !
 I've chose the good part ; my portion thou art ;
 O love, let me find thee, O God, in my heart.
- 3 For this my heart sighs ; nothing else can suffice ;
 How, Lord, can I purchase the pearl of great price ?
 It cannot be bought ; thou know'st I have nought,
 Not an action, a word or a truly good thought.
- 4 But I hear a voice say, without money you may Receive it, whoever, hath nothing to pay ;

Who on Jesus relies, without money or price,
 The pearl of forgiveness and holiness buys.

- 5 The blessing is free—so, Lord, let it be ;
 I yield that thy love should be giv'n to me ;
 I freely receive what thou freely dost give,
 And consent to thy love, in thine Eden to live.
- 6 The gift I embrace, the giver I praise,
 And ascribe my salvation to Jesus' grace :
 It came from above ; the foretaste I prove ;

Hearken to the solemn voice, The awful midnight cry! Waiting souls, rejoice, rejoice, And see the Bridegroom nigh! Lo, he comes to keep his word, Light and joy his looks im - part.

PIA. FOR.

Go ye forth to meet your Lord, And meet him in your heart. :||

2 Ye who faint beneath the load
Of sin, your heads lift up;
See your great redeeming God;
He comes and bids you hope!
In the midnight of your grief,
Jesus doth his mourners cheer;
Lo, he brings you sure relief,
Believe and feel him here.

3 Ye, whose loins are girt, stand forth,
Whose lamps are burning bright;
Worthy in your Saviour's worth,
To walk with him in white;

Jesus bids your hearts be clean;
Bids you all his promise prove;
Jesus comes to cast out sin,
And perfect you in love.

4 Wait we all in patient hope,
Till Christ, the Judge, shall come;
We shall soon be all caught up,
To meet the general doom;
In an hour to us unknown,
As a thief in deepest night,
Christ shall suddenly come down,
With all his saints in light.

5 Happy he whom Christ shall find
Watching to see him come;
Him, the Judge of all mankind,
Shall bear triumphant home.
Who can answer to his word?
Which of you dares meet his day?
'Rise, and come to Judgment!' Lord,
We rise and come away.

 Upward tends to his abode,
 To rest in his embrace.

blind, Fast bound in sin and mis - e - ry, Friend of sinners let me find, My help, my all in thee!

2 I am all unclean, unclean,
 Thy purity I want;
 My whole heart is sick of sin,
 And my whole head is faint;
 Full of putrifying sores,
 Of bruises and of wounds, my soul
 Looks to Jesus, help implores,
 And gasps to be made whole.

3 In the wilderness I stray,
 My foolish heart is blind;
 Nothing do I know; the way
 Of peace I cannot find:
 Jesus, Lord, restore my sight,
 And take, O take the veil away,
 Turn my darkness into light;
 My midnight into day.

4 Naked of thine image, Lord,
 Forsaken, and alone;
 Unrenew'd, and unrestor'd,
 I have not thee put on;
 Over me thy mantle spread,
 Send down thy likeness from above;
 Let thy goodness be display'd,
 And wrap me in thy love.

Andante.

Lord, we come before thee now, At thy feet we humbly bow; O do not our suit disdain, Shall we seek thee, Lord in vain?

- 2 Lord, on thee our souls depend;
In compassion now descend;
Fill our hearts with thy rich grace,
Tune our lips to sing thy praise.
- 3 In thine own appointed way,
Now we seek thee, here we stay;
Lord we know not how to go,
Till a blessing thou bestow.
- 4 Send some message from thy word,
That may joy and peace afford;
Let thy Spirit now impart
Full salvation to each heart.

Andante.

Though troubles assail, and dangers affright; Though friends should all fail, and foes all unite, Yet one thing secures us, whatever betide, The promise assures us The Lord will provide.

- 2 The birds, without barn or storehouse are fed;
From them let us learn to trust for our bread;
His saints what is fitting shall ne'er be deny'd,
So long as 'tis written, The Lord will provide.
- 3 We all may, like ships, by tempest be toss'd,
On perilous deeps, but need not be lost;
Though Satan enrages the wind and the tide,
Yet Scripture engages, The Lord will provide.
- 4 His call we obey, like Abrah'm of old:
We know not the way, but faith makes us bold;
For tho' we are strangers, we have a sure guide,
And trust in all dangers, The Lord will provide.

Andante.

Appointed by thee, we meet in thy name, And meekly agree to follow the Lamb; To trace thine ex-

Allegro

O all that pass by, To Jesus draw near; He utters a cry, Ye sinners give ear; From hell to retrieve you, He spreads out his hands, Now, now to receive you, He graciously stands.

- 2 If any man thirst, And happy would be,
The vilest and worst May come unto me;
May drink of my Spirit, Excepted is none,
Lay claim to my merit And take for his own.
- 3 Whoever receives The life-giving word,
In Jesus believes, His God and his Lord,
In him a pure river Of life shall arise;
Shall, in the believer, Spring up to the skies.
- 4 My God and my Lord! Thy call I obey:
My soul on thy word Of promise I stay;
Thy kind invitation I gladly embrace,
A thirst for salvation, Salvation by grace.

2 What fulness of rapture is there,
 While Jesus his glory displays;
 And purples the heavenly air,
 And scatters the odors of grace!
 He looks—and his servants in light,
 The blessings ineffable meet:
 He smiles—and they faint at his sight,
 And fall overwhelm'd at his feet.

3 How happy the angels that fall
 Transported at Jesus's name;
 The saints whom he soonest shall call,
 To share in the feast of the Lamb!

No longer imprison'd in clay,
 Who next from his dungeon shall fly?
 Who first shall be summon'd away—?
 My merciful Lord—is it I?

4 O Jesus, if this be thy will,
 That suddenly I should depart;
 Thy counsel of mercy reveal,
 And whisper the call in my heart;
 O give me a signal to know,
 If soon thou wouldst have me remove;
 And leave the dull body below,
 And fly to the regions above.

Andante.

O tell me no more of this world's vain store, The time for such trifles with me now is o'er! A country I've found, where true joys abound, To dwell I'm determin'd on this happy ground.

2 The souls that believe, in Paradise live,
And me in that number will Jesus receive:
My soul, don't delay—he calls thee away:
Rise, follow thy Saviour, and bless the glad day.

3 No mortal doth know what he can bestow,
What light, strength, and comfort! go after him, go!
Lo! onward I move to a city above:
None guesses how wond'rous my journey will prove.

4 Great spoils I shall win from death, hell, and sin;
'Midst outward affliction shall feel Christ within;
And when I'm to die, 'Receive me,' I'll cry;
For Jesus hath lov'd me—I cannot tell why.

 Where love, like heav'nly dew, distils.

Andante. Affetuoso.

See the Lord of glory dying! See him gasping, hear him crying! See his burden'd bosom heave!

Look ye sinners, you that hung him, Look how deep your sins have stung him! Dying sinners, look and live.

The image shows a musical score for three parts: a vocal line and two piano accompaniment lines. The vocal line is on a single staff with a treble clef and a key signature of one flat (B-flat). The lyrics are written below the notes. The piano accompaniment consists of two staves, with the right hand on the upper staff and the left hand on the lower staff. The music is in a common time signature (C) and ends with a double bar line and repeat dots.

2 Cold on his cradle the dew drops are shining;
 Low lies his head with the beasts of the stall:
 Angels adore him, in slumbers reclining,
 Maker and Monarch, and Saviour of all.

3 Say, shall we yield him, in costly devotion,
 Odours of Eden, and off'rings divine?
 Gems from the mountain, and pearls from the ocean,
 Myrrh from the forest, and gold from the mine!

4 Vainly we offer each ample oblation,
 All these his favor can never secure,
 Richer, by far, is the heart's adoration;
 Dearest to God are the prayers of the poor.

5 Low at his feet, we in humble prostration,
 Lose all our sorrow, and trouble, and strife;
 There we receive his divine consolation,
 Flowing afresh from the fountain of life.

Adagio.

The first system of the musical score consists of three staves. The top staff is a treble clef with a key signature of one sharp (F#) and a time signature of 2/4. The middle staff is also a treble clef with the same key signature and time signature. The bottom staff is a bass clef with the same key signature and time signature. The music is written in a simple, homophonic style with a steady accompaniment.

'Mid scenes of confusion and creature complaints, How sweet to my soul is communion with saints,

The second system of the musical score consists of three staves, continuing the melody and accompaniment from the first system. The notation remains consistent with the first system.

To find at the banquet of mercy there's room, And feel in the presence of Jesus at home.

Chorus.—PIA.

The image shows a musical score for a chorus. It consists of three staves of music. The top staff is the vocal line, the middle staff is the piano accompaniment, and the bottom staff is the bass line. The lyrics are written below the vocal staff. The music is in a common time signature and features a mix of eighth and sixteenth notes, with some rests. The key signature has one flat (B-flat).

Home, Home, Sweet, sweet home, Prepare me, dear Saviour, for glo - ry, my home.

2 Sweet bonds that unite all the children of peace,
And thrice precious Jesus whose love cannot cease ;
Though oft from thy presence, in sadness I roam,
I long to behold thee, in glory at home.

3 I sigh from this body of sin to be free,
Which hinders my joy and communion with thee :
Though now my temptations like billows may foam,
All, all will be peace, when I'm with thee at home.

4 While here in the valley of conflict I stay,
O give me submission and strength as my day :
In all my afflictions to thee would I come,
Rejoicing in hope of my glorious home.

5 What e'er thou deniest, O give me thy grace,
The Spirit's sure witness, and smiles of thy face :
Indulge me with patience to wait at thy throne,
And find, even now, a sweet foretaste of home,

6 I long, dearest Lord, in thy beauties to shine,
No more as an exile in sorrow to pine,
And in thy dear image arise from the tomb,
With glorified millions, to praise thee at home.

Home, home, Sweet, sweet home,

The image shows a musical score for three staves. The top staff contains the lyrics 'gression, :||: :||: And reign in e - quity.' The middle and bottom staves contain musical notation, including notes, rests, and bar lines. The score is enclosed in a large bracket on the left side.

2 He comes with succor speedy,
 To those who suffer wrong;
 To help the poor and needy,
 And bid the weak be strong;
 To give them songs for sighing,
 Their darkness turn to light,
 Whose souls in mis'ry dying,
 Were precious in his sight.

3 He shall come down like showers
 Upon the fruitful earth,
 And joy, and hope, like flowers,
 Spring in his path to birth,
 Before him, on the mountains,
 Shall peace, the herald, go,
 And righteousness, in fountains,
 From hill to valley flow.

4 For him shall prayer unceasing,
 And daily vows ascend;
 His kingdom still increasing—
 A kingdom without end.
 The tide of time shall never
 His covenant remove;
 His name shall stand forever;
 His name—what is it? LOVE.

The score consists of two systems. The first system has a vocal line on a treble clef staff with a 2/4 time signature and a key signature of one sharp (F#). The piano accompaniment is on a grand staff (treble and bass clefs). The second system continues the vocal line and piano accompaniment. The lyrics are placed below the vocal staff. The piano part includes various rhythmic patterns, including eighth and sixteenth notes, and rests.

The image shows a musical score for three staves. The lyrics are written below the first staff. The music consists of various note values, rests, and bar lines, typical of a 19th-century hymn tune. The score concludes with a double bar line and repeat dots.

2 Once on the raging seas I rode,
 The storm was loud—the night was dark,
 The ocean yawn'd—and rudely blow'd
 The wind that toss'd my found'ring bark ;
 Deep horror then my vitals froze,
 Death-struck, I ceas'd the tide to stem ;
 When suddenly a Star arose—
 It was the Star of Bethlehem.

3 It was my guide, my light, my all—
 It bade my dark forebodings cease ;
 And through the storm and danger's thrall,
 It led me to the port of peace.
 Now safely moor'd, my perils o'er—
 I'll sing, first in night's diadem,
 For ever and for ever more,
 I'll sing the Star of Bethlehem.

 Through the virtue of thy blood;
 Open'd is the gate of heav'n;
 Peace is made 'twixt man and God.

APPENDIX TO THE CHRISTIAN'S HARP. 1

ABSENCE, 8, 7, 8, 7, double.

Harmonized by S. W.

Adagio Pia

Happy soul, thy days are ended,
Go, by angel-guards attended,

All thy mourning days below:
To the sight of Jesus go. }

Waiting to receive thy spirit,
Lo, the Saviour stands above!
Shows the purchase of his merit,
Reaches out the crown of love!

2 Struggle through thy latest passion,
To thy great Redeemer's breast;
To his uttermost salvation;
To his everlasting rest.
For the joy he sets before thee,
Bear a momentary pain;
Die, to live a life of glory;
Suffer with thy Lord to reign.

Moderate.

Let sinners take their course, And choose the road to death; But I'll spend my daily breath. I'll spend, &c.

- 2 My thoughts address his throne,
When morning brings the light;
I seek his blessing ev'ry noon,
And pay my vows at night.
- 3 Thou wilt regard my cries,
O my eternal God!
While sinners perish in surprise,
Beneath thy angry rod.
- 4 Because they dwell at ease,
And no sad changes feel,
They neither fear nor trust thy name,
Nor learn to do thy will.

Allegro Spiritoso.

Awake, ye saints, and raise your eyes, And raise your voices high: That

Awake, and praise that sov'reign grace, shows salvation nigh. Awake, and praise that sov'reign grace,

That shows salvation nigh.

- 2 On all the wings of time it flies;
Each moment brings it near.
Then welcome each declining day,
And each revolving year.
- 3 Nor many years their round shall run,
Nor many mornings rise,
Ere all its glories stand reveal'd
To our admiring eyes.
- 4 Ye wheels of nature, speed your course;
Ye mortal pow'rs decay!
Fast as ye bring the night of death,
Ye bring eternal day.

Moderato.

Before Je - hovah's awful throne, Ye nations bow with sacred joy; and he destroy.

Know that the Lord is God alone, He can create,

- 2 His sovereign power without our aid,
Made us of clay, and form'd us men;
And when like wand'ring sheep we stray'd,
He brought us to his fold again.
- 3 We'll crowd thy gates with thankful songs,
High as the heaven our voices raise:
And earth with her ten thousand tongues
Shall fill thy courts with sounding praise.
- 4 Wide as the world is thy command;
Vast as eternity thy love;
Firm as a rock thy truth must stand,
When rolling years shall cease to move.

Largo.

Musical score for 'CHINA' in C Major, 3/4 time. The score consists of two staves: a treble clef staff and a bass clef staff. The melody is written in the treble staff, and the accompaniment is in the bass staff. The piece begins with a treble clef and a 3/4 time signature. The first staff contains the main melody with lyrics underneath. The second staff contains the accompaniment. There are some markings like '3' above and below notes, indicating triplets.

Lo! what an entertaining sight Those friendly brethren prove, Whose cheerful hearts in bonds unite, Of harmony and love.

2 Where streams of bliss from Christ the spring, Descend on every soul; And heavenly peace with balmy wing Shades and revives the whole.

3 'Tis pleasant as the morning dews That fall on Zion's hill, Where God his mildest glory shows, And makes his grace distil.

CONSOLATION. C. M.

Harmonized by S. W.

Moderato.

Musical score for 'CONSOLATION' in C Major, 3/4 time. The score consists of two staves: a treble clef staff and a bass clef staff. The melody is written in the treble staff, and the accompaniment is in the bass staff. The piece begins with a treble clef and a 3/4 time signature. The first staff contains the main melody with lyrics underneath. The second staff contains the accompaniment. There are some markings like '3' above and below notes, indicating triplets.

And let this feeble body fail, And let it faint or die; My soul shall quit this mournful vale, And soar to worlds on high.

2 Shall join the disembodied saints,
And find its long sought rest,
That only bliss for which it pants,
In the Redeemer's breast.

3 In hope of that immortal crown,
I now the cross sustain;
And gladly wander up and down,
And smile at toil and pain.

Moderato.

How sweet and awful is the place, With Christ within the doors; } Here, in the language of a God, Divine compassion rolls;
While everlasting love displays The choicest of her stores! }

3 While all our hearts, and all our songs,
Join to admire the feast,
Each of us cries, with thankful tongues,
"Lord, why was I a guest?"

4 "Why was I made to hear thy voice,
And enter while there's room,
When thousands make a wretched choice,
And rather starve than come!"

Allegro

Come sound his praise abroad, And hymns of glory sing :

Je - hovah is the sovereign Lord, ::

The u - niver - sal king.

- 2 He form'd the deeps unknown,
He gave the seas their bound;
The wat'ry worlds are all his own,
And all the solid ground.
- 3 Come, worship at his throne,
Come, bow before the Lord;
We are his works and not our own;
He formed us by his word.
- 4 To-day attend his voice,
Nor dare provoke his rod;
Come like the people of his choice,
And own your gracious God.

Allegro.

O thou in whose presence my soul takes delight, On whom in affliction I call, My comfort by day and my song in the night, My hope, my salvation, my all.

2 Where dost thou at noon-tide
 Resort with thy sheep,
 To feed on the pastures of love ?
 For why in the valley
 Of death should I weep,
 Alone in the wilderness rove.

3 O why should I wander
 An alien from thee,
 And cry in the desert for bread :
 Thy foes will rejoice,
 When my sorrows they see,
 And smile at the tears I have shed.

DEVOTION. L. M.Harmonized by S. W. 9Moderato.*

From all that dwell below the skies,
Let the Creator's praise arise!

Let the Redeemer's name be sung,
Through every land, by every tongue.

Eternal are thy mercies, Lord,
Eternal truth attends thy word,

Thy praise shall sound from shore to shore,
Till suns shall rise and set no more.

DUNLAP'S CREEK. C. M.

M'Farland.

Andante.

Think, O my soul, the dreadful day,
When this incensed God,

Shall rend the skies and burn the seas,
And fling his wrath abroad.

Allegro.

Now in the heat of youth - ful blood, Remember your Cre - a - tor, God; Behold, &c.

Behold, the months come hast'ning on, When

Behold, &c.

You shall say, "My joys are gone."

Behold, &c.

FIDUCIA. C. M.

Robertson. 11

Andante. Pia.

Hark! from the tombs a doleful sound, My ears attend the cry :
 "Ye living men come view the ground, Where you must shortly lie.      "Princes, this clay must be your bed, In spite of all your tow'rs :

The tall, the wise, the rev'rend head, Must lie as low as ours."

2 Great God ! is this our certain doom !
 And are we still secure ?
 Still walking downward to the tomb,
 And yet prepared no more !
 Grant us the power of quick'ning grace,
 To fit our souls to fly ;
 Then, when we drop this dying flesh,
 We'll rise above the sky.

Moderato.

Ah! whither should I go, Burden'd, and sick, and faint? To whom should I my troubles show, And pour out my complaint?

To whom, &c.

- 2 My Saviour bids me come;
Ah, why do I delay?
He calls the weary sinner home,
And yet from him I stay.
- 3 What is it keeps me back
From which I cannot part;
Which will not let the Saviour take Possession of my heart?
- 4 Some cursed thing unknown
Must surely lurk within;
Some idol which I will not own,
Some secret bosom sin.

FUNERAL. C. M.

Wakefield. 13

Andante Doloroso.

Stoop down, my tho'ts, that used to rise, Converse awhile with death; Think how a gasping mortal lies, And pants away his breath.

His quiv'ring lip hangs feebly down, His pulses faint and few; Then speechless, with a doleful groan, He bids the world adieu.

Andante.

When God reveal'd his gracious name, And chang'd my mournful state, My rapture seem'd a pleasing dream, The grace appear'd so great.

The musical score consists of two systems. The first system has a treble clef, a key signature of one sharp (F#), and a 3/4 time signature. The second system has a bass clef, the same key signature, and the same time signature. The music is written in a simple, hymn-like style with various note values and rests.

2 The world beheld the glorious change,
And did thy hand confess ;
My tongue broke out in unknown strains,
And sung surprising grace.

3 The Lord can clear the darkest skies,
Can give us day for night ;
Make drops of sacred sorrow rise
To rivers of delight.

HUDSON. L. M.

Harmonized by S. W.

Allegro.

When, gracious Lord, when shall it be, That I shall find my all in thee ? The fulness of thy promise prove, The seal of thy e - ternal love.

The musical score consists of three systems. The first system has a treble clef, a common time signature (C), and a key signature of one sharp (F#). The second system has a treble clef, the same key signature, and the same time signature. The third system has a bass clef, the same key signature, and the same time signature. The music is written in a simple, hymn-like style with various note values and rests.

Allegro.

O turn ye, O turn ye, for why will you die,
When God in great mercy is coming so nigh! } Now Jesus invites you, the Spirit says come, And angels are waiting to welcome you home.

2 How vain the delusion, that while you delay,
Your hearts may grow better by staying away,
Come wretched, come starving, come just as you be,
While streams of salvation are flowing so free.

3 Now Jesus is ready your souls to receive,
And grant you a pardon if you will believe;

If sin is your burden why will you not come?
'Tis you he bids welcome; he bids you come home.

- 4 In riches, in pleasures, what can you obtain,
To sooth your affliction or banish your pain?
To bear up your spirit when summon'd to die,
Or waft you to mansions of glory on high!
- 5 Why will you be starving and feeding on air?
There's mercy in Jesus enough and to spare;
If still you are doubting, make trial and see,
And prove that his mercy is boundless and free.
- 6 Come, give us your hand, and the Saviour your heart;
And trusting in heaven, we never shall part;
O how can we leave you? Why will you not come?
We'll journey together and soon be at home.

Andante Grazioso.

And cast your gloo - - my fears a - way.

2 Opress'd with guilt, a painful load,
O come, and spread your woes abroad :
Divine compassion, mighty love,
Will all the load of guilt remove.

3 Here Mercy's boundless ocean flows,
To cleanse your guilt and heal your woes ;
Pardon, and life, and endless peace :
How rich the gift ! how free the grace !

4 Lord, we accept, with thankful heart,
The hope thy gracious words impart :
We come with trembling, yet rejoice,
And bless the kind, inviting voice.

Soldiers of the cross arise! Lo! your leader from the skies Waves before you glory's prize, The prize of victory.

Seize your armor, gird it on; Fight until the battle's won; Soon the conflict will be done; Then struggle man - ful - ly.

2 Jesus conquer'd when he fell,
Met and vanquish'd earth and hell;
Now he leads you on to swell
The triumphs of his cross.
Though your enemies appear,
Who will doubt, or who can fear?
God, our strength and shield is near;
We cannot lose our cause.

3 Onward, then, ye hosts of God!
Jesus points the victor's rod;
Follow where your leader trod;
You soon shall see his face.
Soon, your enemies all slain,
Crowns of glory you shall gain;
Soon you'll join that glorious train,
Who shout their Saviour's praise.

Concluding Coda, after the hymn.

When we've pass'd over Jordan
How happy we will be,
We'll pass over Jordan,
And sound the Jubilee.

Teach me some melodious sonnet,
Sung by flaming tongues above;
Praise the mount—I'm fix'd upon it;
Mount of thy redeeming love!

2 Here I'll raise mine Ebenezer,
Hither by thy help I'm come;

And I hope, by thy good pleasure,
Safely to arrive at home.
Jesus sought me when a stranger,
Wand'ring from the fold of God;
He, to rescue me from danger,
Interpos'd his precious blood!

3 O! to grace how great a debtor,
Daily I'm constrain'd to be!
Let thy goodness like a fetter,
Bind my wand'ring heart to thee:
Prone to wander, Lord, I feel it;
Prone to leave the God I love—
Here's my heart, O take and seal it;
Seal it for thy courts above.

Come sound his praise a - broad, And hymns of glo - ry sing; Je - ho - vah is the sov'reign Lord, The u - ni - ver - sal king.

2 He form'd the deeps unknown;
 He gave the seas their bound;
 The wat'ry worlds are all his own,
 And all the solid ground.

3 Come, worship at his throne;
 Come, bow before the Lord:
 We are his work, and not our own,
 He form'd us by his word.

4 To-day attend his voice,
 Nor dare provoke his rod;
 Come, like the people of his choice,
 And own your gracious God.

The musical score is written for a trumpet in G major (one sharp) and common time (C). It consists of two systems of music. The first system has two staves: the top staff is the melody and the bottom staff is the accompaniment. The second system also has two staves. The lyrics are placed between the staves of each system. The music features a mix of eighth and sixteenth notes, with some rests and dynamic markings.

3 The trumpet! the trumpet! the dead have all heard,
Lo, the depths of the stone-covered charnel are stir'd
From the sea, from the earth, from the south, from the north,
All the vast generations of man are come forth.

4 The judgment! the judgment! the thrones are all set,
Where the Lamb, and the white-vested elders are met!
There all flesh is at once in the sight of the Lord,
And the doom of eternity hangs on his word.

5 O mercy! O mercy! look down from above,
Great Creator, on us, (thy sad children) with love!
When beneath to their darkness the wicked are driv'n,
May our justified souls find a welcome in heav'n!

Chorus.

Though in the outward church below, The wheat and tares together grow, For soon the reaping time will come,
Jesus ere long will reap the crop, And burn the tares in an - ger up.

And angels shout the harvest home.

4 We seem alike when thus we meet,
Strangers might think we all were wheat;
But to the Lord's all-searching eyes,
Each heart appears without disguise.

And soon, &c.

5 The tares are spar'd for various ends,
Some for the sake of praying friends;
Others, the Lord, against their will,
Employs his counsels to fulfil;

But soon, &c.

2 Will it relieve their horrors there,
To recollect their stations here;
How much they heard, how much they knew,
How much among the wheat they grew?

No, soon, &c.

3 Oh! this will aggravate their case,
They perished under means of grace;
To them the word of life and faith
Became an instrument of death.

And soon, &c.

6 But though they grow so tall and strong,
His plan will not require them long;
In harvest when he saves his own,
The tares shall into hell be thrown.

For soon, &c.

7 Most awful thought, and is it so?
Must all mankind the harvest know?
Is every man a wheat or tare?
Me, for that harvest, Lord, prepare.

For soon, &c.

Adagio.

O, land of rest, for thee I sigh! When will the mo - ment come, When I shall lay my ar - mor by, And dwell in peace at home.

2 No tranquil joys on earth I know,
No peaceful shelt'ring dome;
This world's a wilderness of wo—
This world is not my home.

3 To Jesus Christ I sought for rest,
He bade me cease to roam,
And fly for succor to his breast,
And he'd conduct me home.

4 I should at once have quit this field,
Where foes with fury foam;
But ah! my passport was not seal'd—
I could not yet go home.

5 When by affliction sharply tried,
I view the gaping tomb;

Although I dread death's chilling tide,
Yet still I sigh for home.

6 Weary of wand'ring round and round,
This vale of sin and gloom,
I long to quit th' unhallow'd ground,
And dwell with Christ at home.

* The slur in the third measure, to be observed only in repeating the last line of each verse.

A - rise, my soul, arise, Shake off thy guilty fears ; The bleeding sacrifice In my behalf appears. Before the throne my surety stands, My name is written on his hands.

2 He ever lives above,
 For me to intercede ;
 His all-redeeming love,
 His precious blood to plead ;
 His blood aton'd for all our race,
 And sprinkles now the throne of grace.

3 Five bleeding wounds he bears,
 Receiv'd on Calvary ;
 They pour effectual prayers,
 They strongly speak for me :
 Forgive him, O forgive, they cry,
 Nor let that ransom'd sinner die !

4 The Father hears him pray,
 His dear anointed One :
 He cannot turn away
 The presence of his Son :
 His spirit answers to the blood,
 And tells me I am born of God

5 My God is reconcil'd,
 His pard'ning voice I hear ;
 He owns me for his child,
 I can no longer fear :
 With confidence I now draw nigh,
 And Father, Abba, Father, cry.

Largo.

[Inserted by request.]

Ye people that wonder at me and my ways, And oft with astonishment on me do gaze, Come, lend your attention and I will re-late, My past exer - cises, and my present state.

- 2 The people I follow, I once did despise,
And oft-times like you, I gazed on with surprise;
I gazed with a mixture of pride and disdain,
Yet still from their meetings I could not refrain.
- 3 I sometimes did jest at their sighs and their groans,
And sometimes in spirit felt deeply to mourn,
Their praying and mourning gave me such offence,
I thought it delusion, and nought but pretence.
- 4 I oft-times determined I'd hear them no more,
But still on occasions would go as before;

Although persecuting I still would return,
The sparks of conviction beginning to burn;

- 5 The word cloth'd with power at length reach'd my heart,
I sat under preaching and there felt the dart;
I strove to conceal it, but soon found it vain,
To pray, weep, and tremble, it did me constrain.
- 6 I sunk down in sorrow, so deep my distress,
I lay for some hours almost motionless;
Till Jesus in mercy, his love did reveal,
A wonder! a wonder!! Oh how I did feel!!!
- 7 My burden of guilt was removed and gone;
My spirit was joyful, my soul was serene;
I stood up and prais'd him, without dread or fear,
Nor would I regard, though the world had been there.
- 8 My friends may despise me, and foes ridicule;
The wise of this world may esteem me a fool;
But all their attempts will be fruitless and vain,
For Jesus has bless'd me, and I'll praise his name

'SAFELY THRO' ANOTHER WEEK.* [SABBATH.] 6 lines 7s. or double. 59

Largo.

Safely thro' another week, God has brought us on our way; Let us now a blessing seek,

Waiting in his courts to - day: Day of all the week the best; Emblem of e - ternal rest.

*From Masons' Sacred Harp, by special permission.

'SAFELY THRO' ANOTHER WEEK,' Concluded.

Day of all the week the best, Emblem of e - ternal rest.

2 While we seek supplies of grace,
Thro' the great Redeemer's name;
Show thy reconciling face,
Take away our sin and shame.
From our worldly cares set free,
May we rest this day in thee.

3 Here we come thy name to praise,
Let us feel thy presence near;
May thy glory meet our eyes,
While we in thy house appear:
Here afford us, Lord, a taste,
Of our everlasting feast.

MORNING. C. M.

L. B. M'Lain.

Once more, my soul, the rising day, Salutes thy waking eyes, Once more, my voice, thy tribute pay :|| To Him that rules the skies.

“COME YE DISCONSOLATE.”

61

SOLO.—Affettuoso.

1 Come, ye dis - consolate, wher - e'er ye languish, Come, at the Mercy seat fervently kneel ;
 2 Joy of the comfortless, light of the straying, Hope, when all others die, fadeless and pure ;
 3 Here see the Bread of Life, see wa - ters flowing Forth from the throne of God, pure from above ;
 4 Let not your unbelief keep back the blessing, But in the cause of God fully en - gage ;
 5 Lo ! from his shining throne, Je - sus the Saviour, Looks with complacency, bids you receive

PIA.

Repeat Tutti. FOR.

Here bring your wounded hearts, here tell your anguish ;	Earth has no sor - row that Heaven cannot heal. :
Here speaks the Comforter, in God's name, saying,	' Earth has no sor - row that Heaven cannot cure.' :
Come to the feast of love, come, ev - er knowing,	Earth has no sor - row, but Heaven can remove ! :
Bow at the throne of grace, ev - er con - fessing,	Earth has no sor - row that Heaven can't assuage. :
Joy, peace and pleasure sweet, pardon and favour ;	Earth has no sor - row but Heaven can relieve. :

Note.—The Bass should be sung only when the last two lines of each verse are repeated.

☞ The 4th and 5th verses were written for the "Christian's Harp," by J. P. Becker of Pittsburgh.

'WATCHMAN! TELL US OF THE NIGHT.'

Andante.

Treble Voice.

Tenor Voice.

1 Watchman! tell us of the night, What its signs of promise are; Traveler! o'er yon mountain's height, See that glory beaming star!
 2 Watchman! tell us of the night, Higher yet that star ascends; Traveler! blessedness and light, Peace and truth its course portends!
 3 Watchman! tell us of the night, For the morning seems to dawn; Traveler! darkness takes its flight, Doubt and terror are withdrawn!

Treble Voice.

Tenor Voice.

Watchman! does its beauteous ray, Aught of peace or joy foretell? Traveler! yes: it brings the day, Promised day of Isra - el!
 Watchman! will its beams alone' Gild the spot that gave them birth? Traveler! ages are its own; See! it bursts o'er all the earth!
 Watchman! let thy wand'rings cease; Hie thee to thy quiet home: Traveler! lo! the Prince of Peace, Lo! the Son of God is come!

'WATCHMAN! TELL US OF THE NIGHT,' Concluded.

Chorus to 1st and 2d Stanzas.

Chorus to 3d Stanzas.

1-Traveler! yes: it brings the day, Promised day of Israel. }
 2-Traveler! ages are its own, See it bursts o'er all the earth. } 3-Traveler! lo! the Prince of Peace, Lo! the Son of God is come! Lo! the Son of God is come.

ORBISONIA. S. M.

W. Orbison.

Andante.

Did Jesus, Lord above! For sinners bleed and die? And shall we then resist his love, And from his presence fly?

2 Forbid it dearest Lord;
 Thy special grace impart,
 Constrain us to embrace thy word,
 And humble every heart.

3 The rich provision made
 We would, but can't receive
 Without the holy Spirit's aid;
 O! help us to believe!

3 Now tune our hearts to sing
 The wonders of thy love:
 Our voices raise in unison
 With ransom'd saints above.

Allegretto.

How happy, gracious Lord, are we! Divinely drawn to follow thee, Whose hours divided are Betwixt the mount and multitude; Our day is spent in doing good, Our night in praise and pray'r.

2 With us no melancholy void;
No moment lingers unemploy'd,
Or unimprov'd below.
Our weariness of life is gone,
Who live to serve our God alone,
And only thee to know.

3 The winter's night and summer's day,
Glide imperceptibly away,
Too short to sing thy praise:

Too few we find the happy hours,
And haste to join those heav'nly pow'rs,
In everlasting lays.

4 With all who chant thy name on high,
And "Holy, holy, holy," cry,
(A bright harmonious throng,
We long thy praises to repeat;
And ceaseless sing, around thy seat,
The new, eternal song.
